

A Jewellery manufacturing firm uses the following method to calculate the price of jewelry for sale. 25% of the value of a pound is charged as a labor fee for each pound based on the weight of the jewelry.

The code to calculate and output the total amount of gold, the value of the worker rent, when the current value of the pound of units and weight is input.